TIP

My copper medals by the pound

May be with learned justice weigh'd:

To turn the balance, Orho's head

May be thrown in; and for the mettle

The coin may mend a tinker's kettle.

To tip, v. n. [from tip, Fr. tipis, Latin.]

To make a sharp quick noise; to clink.

The daughters of Zion are haughty, and walk with stretched out necks, making a tinkling with their feet.

His feeble hand a javelin threw,

Which flitting, seem'd to loiter as it flew:

Just, and but barely, to the mark it held,

And faintly tinkl'd on the brazen field.

Moves to the muck of his tinkling bells.

It seems to have been improperly used by Pope.

The wandling streams that shine between the hills,

The grots that echo to the tinkling rills.

To hear a low quick noise.

With deeper brown the grove was overpread,

A sudden horror seiz'd his giddy head,

And his ears tinkled, and the colour fled.

To tip, n. f. [from tip, Fr. tipis, Latin.] A manufacturer of tin, or iron tinned over.

Didst thou never pop

Thy head into a tinman's shop?

To tip, n. f. [from tip, Fr. tipis, Latin.] A certain customary duty anciently paid to the tithingmen.

To tip, n. f. [from tip, Fr. tipis, Latin.] An insect.

To tip, n. f. [from tip, Fr. tipis, Latin.] One who works in the tin mines.

The Cornish men, many of them could for a need live under-ground, that were tinners.

To tip, n. f. [from tip, Fr. tipis, Latin.]

A kind of shining cloth.

A tip veil her amber locks did throw'd,

That drove to cover what it could not hide.

Is but a night-gown in respect of your's; cloth of gold and cuts, underborne with a bluish tip.

By Thetis' tip slipper'd feet,

And the songs of Irens sweet.

Anything shining with false lustre; any thing showy and of little value.

For favours cheap and common who would strive;

Yet scatter'd here and there I some behold,

Who can discern the tip
